- primary cover under the ECB health insurance for at least five years prior to the date of their retirement.
- 3.2 Without prejudice to Article 3.1.1 or Article 3.1.2 the following conditions apply with regard to the income of, and contributions in respect of, spouses or recognised partners.
- (a) Spouses or recognised partners whose income does not exceed the income threshold referred to in Article 3.6.1(c)(iii) of the Staff Rules in the relevant calendar year shall be insured without payment of an additional monthly contribution.
 - (b) Where the income of spouses or recognised partners exceeds the income threshold referred to in Article 3.6.1(c)(iii) of the Staff Rules but does not exceed the income threshold referred to in Article 15 of the Conditions of Employment during the relevant calendar year, such spouses or recognised partners shall be covered if:
 - (i) the actual cost of alternative health insurance that is generally comparable to the ECB health insurance would exceed 25% of the income of such spouses or recognised partners in the relevant calendar year; and
 - (ii) the insured member pays an additional monthly contribution calculated pursuant to Articles 12 and 13.
 - (c) Where the income of spouses or recognised partners exceeds the income threshold referred to in Article 15 of the Conditions of Employment in the relevant calendar year, such spouses or recognised partners shall not be eligible for primary cover as from 1 April of the year in which eligibility is assessed and the provisions of Article 3.5(b) shall apply.
 - (d) In cases where a spouse or recognised partner's income exceeds the income threshold referred to in Article 15 of the Conditions of Employment in the relevant calendar year, and the insured member provides evidence that they ceased to receive any income and have no access to alternative health insurance at a cost not exceeding the additional monthly contribution referred to in Article 3.4, entitlement to insurance cover under this Article is assessed by reference to the new situation of the spouse or recognised partner concerned.
- 3.3 Top-up cover for spouses or recognised partners
- (a) Spouses or recognised partners who are not eligible for primary cover are entitled to top-up cover, provided that:

they are primarily insured with, or covered by, another health insurance or social security scheme which provides for either:

European Central Bank – European Central Bank health insurance

1 November 2018

- 3.4 Cover for former spouses or recognised partners
- (a) Former spouses or recognised partners are eligible for primary cover if the insured member pays an additional monthly contribution, calculated pursuant to Articles 12 and 13.
 - (b) Former spouses or recognised partners are not eligible for top-up cover.
- 3.5 Reporting obligations in respect of spouses or recognised partners
- (a) For spouses or recognised partners to continue to benefit from cover under the ECB health insurance, insured members must, by 31 March of each year at the latest, provide to the ECB proof of income received by such spouse or recognised partner in the relevant calendar year. Failure to provide the necessary information by this date results in the cessation of insurance cover with effect from 1 April of the current year. Where the necessary evidence is provided at a later date, cover is resumed with effect from the first day of the month following the date on which the insured member provides the necessary evidence.
 - (b) If the insured member submits to the ECB proof of income received by a spouse or recognised partner with respect to the relevant calendar year, which requires adjustment at a later point, the insured member shall submit the updated information to the ECB as soon as it becomes available to them. In such cases:
 - (i) the additional monthly contribution due for the relevant period of insurance coverage is adjusted accordingly;
 - (ii) the insurance cover initially granted is not revoked retroactively when the threshold referred to in Article 3.2(c) is exceeded.
- 3.6 The insurance cover of insured spouses or recognised partners or insured former spouses or recognised partners is conditional on the insurance cover of the insured member for any given time period. However, the insurance cover of insured spouses or recognised partners or of insured former spouses or recognised partners is not affected by the suspension of the cover of the insured member concerned during the insured member's periods of military or alternative service.

Article 4: Conditions of insurance cover for children4.1 Dependent children

Upon application by an insured member, dependent children benefit from primary cover under the ECB health insurance, provided that they do not benefit from another primary insurance, in which case they only benefit from the ECB's top-up cover.

European Central Bank – European Central Bank health insurance

1 November 2018

4.2 Limited extension of primary cover for non-dependent children

Insured members may request to extend the ECB's primary cover with regard to their children beyond the date on which such children cease to qualify as dependent children. Such extension is possible for a period or several periods of up to one year per request, as long as the following conditions are met:

- (a) their children have not yet reached the age of 30;
- (b) their children are not eligible for cover under a national health insurance scheme at their place of residence;
- (c) their children's income in the year for which eligibility is assessed does not exceed the threshold referred to in Article 3.6.1 of the ECB Staff Rules; and
- (d) the insured member pays an additional monthly contribution in respect of such child, calculated pursuant to in Articles 12 and 13.

4.3 Non-compliance with reporting obligations

Insured members are obliged to immediately report any changes in the situation of their insured children that may result in changes in entitlements under the ECB's health insurance. Without prejudice to any payment due under Article 4.2(d), where changes in the situation of an insured child are not reported in a timely manner, and the insured child continues to benefit from cover even though they no longer fulfil the relevant conditions, the insured member must pay a penalty, equivalent to 50% of the additional monthly contribution provided for in Article 4.2(d) for the period during which the child unduly benefited from coverage.

- 4.4 The insurance cover of insured children is conditional on the insurance cover of the insured member for any given time period. However, the insurance cover of insured children is not affected by the suspension of cover of the insured member concerned during periods of military or alternative service.

Article 5: Opting out

- 5.1 Members of staff on a fixed-term, short-term or a permanent contract working part-time may be authorised to opt out of the ECB health insurance on production of evidence that their medical expenditure is covered by another insurance or social security scheme. In such cases, such members of staff are still covered against medical and dental expenditure incurred because of accidents at work and occupational diseases. The member of staff must request authorisation within one month of taking up appointment or part time work. The decision to opt out is irrevocable, unless the members of staff concerned prove that they are no longer covered by an insurance plan or social security system for reasons that are beyond their control.
- 5.2 Members of staff on parental leave may opt out of the health insurance during periods of such leave.

Article 6: Cover during periods of unpaid leave

- 6.1 Days of unpaid leave to take care of sick children or relatives

European Central Bank – European Central Bank health insurance

1 November 2018

- 6.2 Cover during periods of unpaid leave under Article 5.12 of the ECB Staff Rules
- (a) No later than two weeks prior to the commencement of unpaid leave taken pursuant to Article 5.12 of the Staff Rules, insured members may apply to remain covered under the ECB health insurance for the entire duration of their unpaid leave. Notwithstanding this, such cover is not available with respect to insured members when their unpaid leave is granted for compulsory military or alternative service, or if their risk profile will significantly increase as a consequence of the activities to be performed during the period of unpaid leave.
 - (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 3.1, insured members who, during periods of unpaid leave taken pursuant to Article 5.12 of the Staff Rules, have no income of their own and whose spouse or recognised partner is an insured member, remain eligible for primary insurance coverage during such leave as if they were insured dependants.
- 6.3 Cover during periods of parental leave under Article 5.11 of the Staff Rules
- Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 3.1, insured members who take parental leave pursuant to Article 5.11 of the Staff Rules and whose spouse or recognised partner is an insured member, remain eligible for primary insurance coverage during such leave as if they were insured dependants.
- 6.4 Cover during periods of unpaid leave under a scheme supporting transition to a career outside the ECB
- Insured members who apply for unpaid leave under a scheme supporting transition to a career outside the ECB may apply to remain covered under the ECB health insurance in accordance with the rules of such a scheme.

Article 7: Individual subsequent health insurance

- 7.1 Upon ceasing to be covered by the ECB health insurance those who were insured members prior to such cessation have the right to receive an insurance proposal for individual subsequent health insurance from the risk carrier or an affiliated company, provided that they submit such a request to the risk carrier before the cessation of their ECB health insurance cover. Insured members may request an insurance proposal for themselves as well as their insured dependants. The ECB shall provide the insured members with the necessary contact information of the risk carrier.
- 7.2 Such individual subsequent health insurance is independent from the ECB health insurance and cannot give rise to any liability on the part of the ECB. The insured member making a request pursuant to this Article is solely and fully responsible for the costs associated with such a request and with any such subsequent health insurance.

European Central Bank – European Central Bank health insurance

Article 8: Waiting periods and prior medical examination

8.1 Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) provides for waiting periods for the ECB health insurance in certain circumstances. In the event of cessation of insurance cover for one year or less, such waiting period shall be suspended. In the event of cessation of insurance cover for more than one year, a new waiting period shall commence.

8.2 There is no requirement for a prior medical examination for access to the ECB health insurance.

Article 9: Coordination of benefits

9.1 Insured persons under the ECB's primary cover may take out additional private health insurance, in which case they may claim first under the ECB health insurance and subsequently claim under their private health insurance any additional amounts not reimbursed under the ECB primary cover. 9.2 Persons insured under the ECB's top-up cover shall first claim reimbursement of expenses or benefits under their other health insurance or social security scheme. This is not obligatory in cases where treatment is obtained outside the country of residence of the insured dependant. The combined amount of reimbursements from the ECB health insurance and the other health insurance shall not exceed the actual costs incurred.

9.3 The following is not eligible for reimbursement under the ECB's top-up cover for spouses and recognised partners:

The treatments mentioned in points (a) and (b) are eligible for reimbursement where such exclusions are provided for by national legislation on statutory health insurance schemes or social security.

- 15.4 Without prejudice to the principle of freedom of choice, the administrator shall make available a list of medically qualified persons and other providers of medical services, such as hospitals, pharmacies, and opticians, with whom price and/or settlement arrangements have been negotiated by the administrator. Medical service providers, with whom the administrator has agreed on discounts, are indicated separately in this list together with the nature of the discount. These arrangements and the communication of this list to the insured persons do not constitute a recommendation or warranty by the ECB, the administrator or risk carrier, of the medically qualified persons or other providers of medical services or of the medical services provided.
- 15.5 Subject to the provisions in Article 18, the ECB health insurance has worldwide coverage.

Article 16: Prior authorisation

- 16.2 Before deciding on a request for prior authorisation, the administrator may, where appropriate, contact the prescribing medically qualified person or dental practitioner and/or the insured person, to obtain further details concerning the request.
- 16.3 If the medical or dental officer of the administrator is of the opinion that the request for prior authorisation should be accepted, the administrator shall take a decision authorising such prior authorisation on the basis of this opinion. The administrator shall notify the insured person of such a decision without delay.
- 16.4 If the medical or dental officer of the administrator is of the opinion that the request for prior authorisation should be rejected, they shall submit their considerations including their medical reasoning to the ECB's medical adviser. The ECB's medical adviser shall review the medical documentation submitted, examine the insured person if necessary, and form an opinion. On the basis of this opinion the administrator shall take a decision granting or rejecting prior authorisation. The administrator shall inform the insured person about any such decision without delay.

Article 17: Reimbursement – general provisions

17.1 There is no exclusion from coverage for pre-existing medical conditions of insured persons.

17.2 Any claim for reimbursement shall be limited to expenditure incurred.

17.3 Reimbursement of non-conventional treatments

Where an insured person incurs expenses for non-conventional medical methods or medication, the administrator may limit reimbursement to the costs that would have been incurred if available conventional medical methods or medication had been used.

17.4 Pro-rated reimbursement limits

(a) In the case of commencement or cessation of insurance cover over the course of a calendar year, the limits specified in Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) concerning the number of treatments for the respective calendar year are pro-rated in accordance with the following formula:

$$A = \frac{B * C}{12}$$

(i) A = maximum number of treatments to which the insured person is entitled after prorating, which is rounded up to the nearest full number;

(ii) B = maximum number of treatments to which any insured person is entitled per calendar year;

(iii) C = number of months of insurance coverage in the respective calendar year.

(b) The limit for the reimbursement of dental expenditure is pro-rated as provided for in Appendix I (Schedule of benefits).

(c) In no case may the administrator, in the application of the pro-rating, be entitled to reclaim money already paid to the insured member.

17.5 Internet purchases

Without prejudice to any other conditions under the ECB health insurance, including the obligation to obtain a medical prescription from a medically qualified person, internet purchases for medical products may only be accepted for reimbursement if the online provider has a registered and official/regular point of sale that is authorised to sell those products in the country of registration. Purchases via auction websites are excluded from reimbursement.

17.6 Proof of payment

Within six months from the date of the settlement, the administrator may request proof of payment from the insured person, where they presented only an invoice or request for payment for the purposes of reimbursement. Within one month of such a request, the insured person shall provide the administrator with a bank transfer statement, credit card receipt, cashier's receipt or any other valid proof of payment. Failure to provide the requested proof of payment within the given timeframe shall result in the corresponding reimbursement being considered an undue payment, which is recoverable pursuant to Article 24. The reimbursement shall not be considered an undue payment if the insured person is prevented from presenting any valid proof of payment due to force majeure.

17.7. Validity of medical prescription

Where Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) requires a medical prescription as a condition for reimbursement, such a prescription must not be dated earlier than six months before the date of the first treatment or the purchase of the medicine, as the case may be, and must not be issued prior to the start of insurance cover.

Article 18: Eligible expenditure18.1 Expenditure incurred in Germany

18.1.1 Expenditure relating to treatment incurred in Germany is eligible for reimbursement insofar as it is based on the relevant scales of fees for medical and dental practitioners or 'Heilpraktiker' (Gebührenordnung für Ärzte (GOÄ), Gebührenordnung für Zahnärzte (GOZ) and Gebührenordnung für Heilpraktiker (GebüH)) applicable at the time of treatment (hereinafter the 'relevant scales').

18.1.2 Reimbursement may be claimed up to factor 2.3 of the relevant scales or up to factor 3.5, if a justification for exceeding factor 2.3 is provided. Expenditure exceeding factor 3.5 is eligible for reimbursement only when the services are provided by a leading specialist and prior authorisation has been granted.

18.1.3 If Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) limits the reimbursement of eligible expenditure to a maximum amount, expenditure not covered by the relevant scales is considered eligible expenditure only insofar as it does not exceed 150% of such maximum amounts.

18.2. Expenditure incurred outside Germany but within the European Economic Area (EEA) or within the countries specified in Article 18.2.2.

18.2.1 Expenditure relating to treatment incurred outside Germany but within the EEA or within the countries specified in Article 18.2.2 is eligible for reimbursement insofar as it is based on the national relevant scales applicable at the time of treatment, if any, or if it is otherwise reasonable and customary.

18.2.2 The other countries specified in this paragraph are: Albania, Andorra, Belarus, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Kosovo, Macedonia, Moldova, Monaco, Montenegro, San Marino, Serbia, Switzerland, Ukraine, United Kingdom, Vatican City.

18.2.3 If Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) limits the reimbursement of eligible expenditure to a maximum amount, expenditure not covered by the relevant scales is considered eligible expenditure only insofar as it does not exceed 150% of such maximum amounts.

18.3 Expenditure incurred in the rest of the world

18.3.1 Expenditure incurred for the treatment of medical or dental emergencies during private travel in the rest of the world is eligible for reimbursement under the same conditions provided in Article 18.2.1 and 18.2.3.

18.3.2 Other expenditure relating to treatment in the rest of the world is limited to the costs that would have been incurred had the expenditure been incurred in Germany pursuant to Article 18.1.

18.4 Expenditure incurred by insured persons working in ECB representative offices or on external secondment outside the EEA or outside the countries referred to in Article 18.2.2

The reimbursement limits set out in Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) are multiplied by a factor of 5 and Article 18.3 does not apply to:

- insured members working in an ECB representative office outside the EEA or outside the countries referred to in Article 18.2.2 and their insured dependants, with respect to treatment received in the country where the representative office is located,
- insured members on external secondment pursuant to Annex VI, outside the EEA or outside the countries referred to in Article 18.2.2 and their insured dependants, with respect to treatment received in the country where the host organisation is located.

Article 19: Procedure for the qualification of treatment

19.1 Before deciding whether medical or dental treatment qualifies as “treatment” as defined in Article 1, the administrator may, where necessary, contact the prescribing medically qualified person and/or the insured person.

19.2 If the medical or dental officer of the administrator considers that the medical or dental treatment does not qualify as “treatment” as defined in Article 1, they shall submit their considerations, including their medical reasoning, to the medical or dental officer of the risk carrier. If the latter shares this opinion, they shall submit their considerations, including their medical reasoning to the ECB’s medical adviser. The ECB’s medical adviser shall review the medical documentation submitted and form an opinion. On the basis of this opinion the administrator shall take a decision under this Article. The administrator shall inform the insured person of any such decision without delay.

Article 20: Reimbursement of items not mentioned in the Schedule of benefits

20.1 Expenditure incurred in respect of items not mentioned in Appendix I (Schedule of benefits) may be reimbursed at the rate of 80% after approval by the medical or dental officer of the administrator. This approval may be subject to a maximum amount for reimbursement.

The latter shall submit the considerations of the administrator together with their opinion, including an impact assessment on the funds of the ECB health insurance, to the ECB's medical adviser. The ECB's medical adviser shall review the documentation submitted and form an opinion. On the basis of this opinion the administrator shall take a decision under this Article.

20.4 The administrator must inform the insured person of any such decision without delay.

Article 21: Subrogation of rights

21.1 The administrator shall reimburse medical and dental expenditure in accordance with the ECB health insurance even when a third party may be liable for reimbursement of the related expenditure. In such cases:

- (a) when submitting a claim under the ECB health insurance, the insured person is deemed to have automatically assigned their right of recourse against any liable third parties to the administrator so that the insured person's rights are subrogated to the administrator to the extent of the reimbursement made by the administrator;
- (b) the insured member shall disclose to the administrator the relevant information concerning the possible claim against one or more third parties, including, where applicable and known, a description of the incident, a police report and the contact details or insurance details of the third parties;
- (c) the insured member shall cooperate with the administrator to the extent necessary so that the latter may enforce its rights resulting from this subrogation.

21.2 Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 21.1, rights are not subrogated to the administrator in respect of claims for non-material damages, such as moral damages, damages for pain and suffering or moral compensation for disfigurement and loss of amenity, which are not covered by the ECB health insurance.

21.3 Insured persons are not considered as third parties amongst themselves.

Article 22: Claims for serious illness

22.1 The assessment of whether a medical condition is comparably serious as defined in Article 1 is made by the administrator, who shall seek the agreement of the ECB's medical adviser.

22.2 Applications for the recognition that an insured person suffers from a serious illness shall be made by the insured member to the administrator. The application shall include the following information:

The ECB's medical adviser shall review the medical documentation submitted, examine the insured person if necessary, and form an opinion. On the basis of this opinion the administrator shall take a decision under this Article.

22.3 Medical and dental expenditure relating to a serious illness is reimbursed to the extent it is incurred:

- (a) after the date of the application referred to in Article 22.2, for as long as the serious illness persists; and
- (b) up to 12 months prior to the date of application referred to in Article 22.2.

Article 23: Full reimbursement

23.1 Notwithstanding anything else contained in these rules, during every calendar year insured members benefit from full reimbursement of all eligible expenditure from the moment that their total out-of-pocket expenditure during that calendar year exceeds a threshold of EUR 1 000. Out-of-pocket expenditure of, or relating to, insured dependants is added to that of their insured member for the purposes of this threshold.

23.2 The benefit referred to in Article 23.1 is granted by the administrator without any specific request from the insured members. The administrator shall keep insured members informed about the balance in respect of this threshold.

23.3 The following expenditure is not considered out-of-pocket expenditure and does not benefit from full reimbursement:

- (a) the part that is not covered under basic reimbursement for accommodation in hospitals;
- (b) the part that is not covered under basic reimbursement for treatments listed in Articles 15 to 18 of Appendix I (Schedule of benefits), which covers physiotherapy, kinesiotherapy and similar treatments, psychological care, speech therapy and graphomotor and psychomotor therapy, insofar as they exceed the number of reimbursable sessions or frequency, unless an exception was granted as described in the respective chapters;

The recovery of sums paid as a result of fraud, misrepresentation or omission of facts must be initiated no later than ten years from the date on which the sum was paid.
- 24.3 Where the administrator fails to recover the sums referred to in Article 24.1 within six months from the first recovery attempt, the ECB shall recover these sums in accordance with Article 21a of the Conditions of Employment.

Article 25: Irregular or otherwise unwarranted requests for reimbursement

The administrator may reject requests for reimbursement if it has knowledge or a well-founded suspicion that the reimbursement would be irregular or otherwise unwarranted. The administrator shall inform the insured person of such decision without delay.

Article 26: Irregularities and breach of professional obligations
