General comments

We are concerned with the fact that the proposed reporting procedures may ultimately impact the costs of the product financed, especially for SME transactions as those usually have smaller transaction size but the reporting requirements are the same as for the bigger transactions.

It is important that the proposed reporting do not duplicate data points that are already reported by the credit institution through COREP or SECR towards the supervisor. New reporting requirements should be implemented in the existing formats to prevent separate reporting procedures and data mirroring.
